Web Resources: http://home.Messiah.edu/~SWilcock/MATH107_resources/

This site contains many additional resources, including an electronic copy of this syllabus and details about course policies. Other material may be made available throughout the semester. You will be informed in class of these additions. You are required to go to this site and read the course policies, so that you know what to expect from me, and what I expect from you. Continuation in this course is your testimony that you have done this and agree to these policies.

Text: Barnett, Ziegler, and Byleen, Finite Mathematics, Eleventh Edition

This text can serve as a valuable resource for you throughout this course, and beyond. There will be no required readings, but I strongly suggest you read through the sections in the book as we go to insure that you are understanding what I cover in class. Also, once you are out of the course, the text and your notes from the lectures can serve as a reference for you as you go through other courses in your majors, and even once you are working.
