

Community Engagement (continued)

- The Collaboratory for Strategic Research and Applied Partnerships enables students to apply academic knowledge and live out their Christian faith through imaginative, hands-on problem solving that meets the needs of clients around the world. In 2012, World Vision awarded the Collaboratory a $733,000 grant to further improve water and sanitation access for disabled individuals in rural Africa.
- Through the Philadelphia Campus and Harrisburg Institute, Messiah provides access to Christian higher education in an urban setting where students can live and serve in the city.
- The Ernest L. Boyer Center, named for one of Messiah's most notable alumni who served as the U.S. Commissioner of Education, houses the Boyer Archives, the Boyer Scholars Program and other initiatives that build on Boyer's legacy of promoting excellent, accessible education for the common good.
- The Center for Public Humanities brings together academic, civic and cultural communities to engage contemporary issues and to promote learning through symposia, lectures, film series, conferences and partnerships with school districts and literacy outreach programs.

- The School of the Arts fosters extensive connections with visiting artists and arts organizations internationally and locally, such as the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra. Messiah also contributes to the cultural life of the region through affiliations with its accomplished artists-in-residence: jazz musician Tim Warfield, the Susquehanna Chorale and the Mendelssohn Piano Trio.
- Messiah's Oakes Museum of Natural History features Smithsonian-quality collections of seashells, birds and bird eggs, minerals and fossils as well as 144 full-body mounts of North American and African wildlife. Last year the museum had more than 15,000 visitors.
