Speakers for Seminar 7: Community Engagement

Seminar Coordinator

Chad Frey is Community Engagement Liaison at Messiah College and President and Founder of Partnership Planners, LLC, a consulting and software company that specializes in community engagement, social innovation, and entrepreneurship. At Messiah College, Chad advises senior administration on strategic community engagement programs and partnerships. He previously served as the Director of the Agape Center for Curricular Service-Learning at the college and received national recognition for a variety of community engagement initiatives.

Presenters

Tim Fatzinger is President and CEO of the United Way of the Capital Region (UWCR). A graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Tim has been working in the nonprofit arena for more than 25 years. Much of that time has been spent at United Way where he is known as a highly successful fund raiser; between 2004 and 2016, overall giving to the United Way increased from $8.6 million to $11.3 million.

Eric Saunders is executive director of New Hope Ministries, which impacts 22,000 people each year by helping them obtain basic needs and equipping them to change their lives. Eric has a Master's Degree in Social Work from Indiana University and is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker. In 2014, Eric received the Frank Grady Award for distinguished service from the United Way of the Capital Region and, in 2015, he received the Community Building award from the United Way of York County.

Darren Schoch is Chaplain at York County prison, an institution that can house more than 2500 inmates. As chaplain, he helps to ensure a safe and humane environment for all inmates and to prepare them for successful reintegration into the community. In addition to housing local (York County) offenders, the prison also houses federal immigration detainees in the custody of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

Mary Studzinski is the Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Immigration Resource Center. With an MBA in finance from the University of Maryland, she worked in financial services marketing for more than a decade. After moving to York in 1997, she volunteered for a number of projects in the community and also served as immigration specialist for Congressman Todd Platts.
