A MESSAGE FROM LOCAL COMMUNITY SERVICE DIRECTOR

Service is a hallmark of Messiah College. Students serve through classes, with clubs, in groups of friends, and as individuals. Although students typically know the community surrounding Messiah College as their own for only a brief time, they have a lot to give and much to learn from the those they serve. By volunteering in local organizations and neighborhoods, Messiah College students get some on-the-ground training for how to invest in the places they will become rooted in after graduation. Some fall in love with the people and opportunities of the Harrisburg area so much while serving that they choose to stay!

Students engage in local community service through Outreach Teams, Service Plunge Days, Service for Chapel Credit, as well as through the S.A.L.T. House.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Agapé Center for Service and Learning develops, administers, resources, and coordinates programs of service-learning, community service, and mission, contributing to the mission of Messiah College to “educate men and women toward maturity of intellect, character, and Christian faith in preparation for lives of service, leadership, and reconciliation in church and society.”

CONNECTING STUDENTS WITH THE COMMUNITY

The Office of Local Community Service offers a variety of programs to connect students with the local community. These programs are primarily in Harrisburg, but also in Steelton, Grantville, Chambersburg, Mechanicsburg, and Dillsburg. Opportunities to serve are offered through a variety of programs facilitated by the Agapé Center:

- Outreach Teams provide ongoing support to more than 30 partnering agencies in the community.
- Three Service Plunge Days give students a one day orientation to local service as they step out into the community and serve through Into the Streets, Dr. King Community Engagement Day, and Service Day.
- Service for Chapel Credit is a program that enables activists to express worship through serving in place of regular chapel attendance.
- The S.A.L.T. (Serving and Living Together) House is an intentional community living experience where each member is committed to serving one another as well as the local community.

With increased involvement and interest, the Agapé Center hopes to continually refine how accessible and meaningful service can be conducted in the local community by:

- Increasing volunteer enrichment and training opportunities focusing on personal and professional development;
- Developing a sustainable attendance tracking system for volunteers;
- Collaborating with offices and organizations across campus to provide a well-rounded, holistic approach to service.

Each year, students participate in Service Plunge Days, which give them a one-day experience of stepping out into the community and serving.

“Don’t let a day pass without stopping to ask the Lord what He has planned for you in that day. When we position ourselves to be used as sacred and able vessels for His kingdom, there is no doubt that God will present us with opportunities to serve and love others. Everything we have is a gift from God, and when we truly view life in that way, there is nothing else to do but to try to give back to the Lord by lavishing love on His beloved children.”

—Jessanna H. '09

Creative Arts Ministries teams, such as Klowns for the Kingdom, put their performance skills to use as they serve others.

OUTREACH TEAMS: A MESSAGE FROM OUTREACH TEAMS DIRECTOR

Jesus clearly calls us to serve “the least of these”—the oppressed and marginalized of society. Yet all too often Christian service is done haphazardly, with people lacking understanding and sensitivity towards those they are serving. Outreach Teams strive to model healthy and sustainable Christian service by cultivating mutually beneficial partnerships with local community organizations and preparing students to serve well. Service should be a transformative experience, so we work to provide opportunities for further education and reflection to help students learn and grow through their service. The work that we do is imperfect and incomplete, but still has much value for those who are serving and those who are being served. To echo the late Archbishop Oscar Romero: “This is what we are about: We plant seeds that one day will grow. We water seeds already planted, knowing that they hold future promise.”

—Amanda A. '09

“Service is . . . about supplying for someone else the needs they have. Those needs may be building, painting, or cleaning or they may be giving of your time and listening, sharing, and conversing.”

—Messiah College student, feedback from service evaluation

OUTREACH TEAMS: PURPOSE AND ACTIVITIES

The purpose of Outreach Teams is to encourage the expression of faith through action by partnering with local community organizations; assisting them in fulfilling their needs and facilitating student learning and growth. In addition, Outreach Teams seek to:

- Help meet needs in the local community by organizing teams of volunteers.
- Enhance the learning experience of service by offering educational opportunities.
- Shape student growth through a process of orientation, reflection, and evaluation.
- Nurture volunteers in embracing a life-long commitment to service.
- Break down barriers by creating transformative relationships between volunteers and the community.
- Develop the leadership capacity of students within Outreach Teams.

Raising awareness about issues surrounding service and social justice is a key part of Outreach Teams, and this year numerous events were held to enhance students' knowledge and understanding of a diverse set of issues, including:

- Hunger and Homelessness Week included a showing of The Pursuit of Happyness, a presentation by people who have experienced homelessness, and information about homelessness in Harrisburg. Students also participated in a student-led discussion and a Hunger Banquet.
- A chapel was held to educate students about issues surrounding the incarcerated and their families.

- A three-part Educational Inequalities Film Series featuring "Freedom Writers" challenged students to recognize the inequalities that exist in the educational system and discuss how they can be remedied.
- In preparation for the Special Olympics on Service Day, a series of films about persons with special needs were shown followed by discussions.
- Sustainability Week, put on in collaboration with other environmentally-concerned groups on-campus, focused on the acronym S.O.F.A. (Sustainable Opportunities For Action). Students learned about sustainability issues from guest speakers and local experts, and through the Sustainability Forum and Sustain-a-Fest.

Additional events were designed to bring volunteers and community members together to foster transformative relationships, such as:

- Kids tutored and mentored by Messiah students were brought to campus for pool parties, meals in the cafeteria, games out on the lawn, and scavenger hunts around campus throughout the year. A Hip Hop Outreach Show was also held at the end of the year.
- Residents from Messiah Village came to campus to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner with volunteers. Messiah College men continued the tradition of hosting Messiah Village women for a special Valentine's Day dinner—and were promptly invited by the ladies for lunch over at "their place!"
- "Best Buddies" from Paxton Home enjoyed special events each month to connect with their Messiah College "buddies"—from sharing Christmas dinner together to watching "Finding Nemo" to touring the Oakes Museum.

These nine student outreach coordinators worked hard all year to connect teams of volunteers with different community partners in Harrisburg and the surrounding area.

Outreach Teams seek to meet community needs by organizing teams of volunteers.

SERVICE PLUNGE DAYS: INTO THE STREETS

College is the beginning of a brand new adventure for hundreds of incoming Messiah students. In the midst of orientations, placement exams, and settling into dorm rooms, the second day of orientation week is set aside to expose first-year students to life beyond the Messiah College campus. Before the first textbook is opened or the first lecture heard, students have the opportunity to build relationships with their peers while learning about the surrounding community and serving those in need.

Into the Streets is a nationally recognized program. This year, the Agapé Center celebrated its 10th anniversary sponsoring this first-year student event. While students spend time building relationships with their peers, the purpose of this day is to inspire students to continue investing their time and talents into their community. As students serve others in need, they also learn a great deal from those in the community. The hope for this day is that this experience is reciprocal; students are served as they are serving and it sparks a desire to make service a priority during their college career and beyond.

“The ‘Into the Streets’ program is one of the most innovative and positive programs in which I have ever been involved!”

SERVICE PLUNGE DAYS: DR. KING COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT DAY

In 1994, the King Holiday and Service Act was passed by Congress, designating the King Holiday as a national day of volunteer service; the purpose of which is to encourage Americans of all backgrounds and ages to celebrate King's legacy by turning community concerns into action. In order to celebrate the life and legacy of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., students, faculty, and staff at Messiah College are given an opportunity to join others throughout the nation as they participate in a day of service.

This year, MLK Day activities began with a cultural tour of Harrisburg. Following the tour, students had lunch at SciTech High School in Harrisburg, which was provided by Camp Curtin Bar-B-Que Station. This was followed by a message from speaker, Mr. Frederick Jones, an eighth grade teacher at Camp Curtin Elementary School, and a presentation of an excerpt from one of Dr. King's speeches by a student from the school. The day then involved participation in a number of service projects, such as working at a food pantry, helping to reorganize and renovate a building, and becoming involved in worship activities. The day concluded with a debriefing dinner where students engaged in a time of reflection and discussion.

Students participated in a number of service projects with local community partners.

MLK DAY ACTIVITIES

- Students and faculty participated in a worship service at Abba's Place with testimonies from community members related to their experiences and visions for the community.
- Messiah representatives helped to reorganize the food pantry and assisted with painting and cleaning for the Allison Hill Community Ministry.
- At the Bethesda Mission Youth Center, participants helped with organizing and cleaning needs.
- Participants helped to clean at the Center for Champions.
- Students and faculty members assisted in renovating a building that will soon become a group home for Paxton Ministries.

SERVICE PLUNGE DAYS: SERVICE DAY

Service Day was officially founded in 2000 as a result of the strong student support of the Area M Special Olympics games held on campus each year. Because so many students requested to be excused from class that day to help out, it just made sense to take the day off as an institution to give everyone the opportunity to serve. Today, students, faculty, and employees are also given the option to serve off-campus on various projects with local churches and organizations.

This year was a tremendous success, as more than 3,000 individuals participated in Service Day on campus and throughout the region. In all, nearly 1,000 Special Olympians came to Messiah to enjoy a day of athletic games, joined by more than 700 Messiah students and employees and numerous community volunteers. At the same time, just as many students and employees went out into the community, working with partners on a variety of alternative service projects. In addition, Messiah College was honored with the Pennsylvania Special Olympics School of the Year Award for its commitment to hosting the Area M Special Olympics over the last 20 years.

SERVICE FOR CHAPEL CREDIT

One opportunity for sophomore, junior, and senior students to serve locally is through the Service for Chapel Credit program in partnership with the College Ministries Office on campus. In place of attending chapel services, students serve the local community through Outreach Teams, read articles relevant to community development and faith development, and write reflections from their experiences.

This opportunity intends to:

- Offer an alternative worship option to fulfill chapel credit.
- Provide opportunities to serve in the community.
- Engage in spiritual formation through action and reflection.
- Enhance students' self-awareness and their development of a worldview.
- Encourage service as a lifestyle during college and beyond.

Many of the service opportunities for Service for Chapel Credit are organized through Outreach Teams.

Kirsten R. is the Joshua Farm Project Manager, a community partner involved with Service for Chapel Credit.

S.A.L.T. HOUSE 2008-2009 (Serving and Living Together)

The S.A.L.T. House is an intentional community living experience where each member is committed to serving one another as well as the local community. The service time and energy required of each participant should not be underestimated. Each week, house members spend a significant amount of time in house activities, informal discussion, and fellowship which significantly impacts their faith and lifestyle. The mission of the S.A.L.T. House is to cooperatively work toward a holistic vision and lifestyle which integrates service into every area of life.

S.A.L.T. HOUSE ACTIVITIES

The S.A.L.T. House practices three main programming elements. The first is service. Through the Office of Local Community Service and Outreach Teams, S.A.L.T. students commit to weekly service with a community partner. Students serve in a variety of capacities from being a 'buddy' with a resident at an elderly home to gardening in urban Harrisburg with the local CSA (Community Supported Agriculture). By serving through the S.A.L.T. program, students better connect with their neighbors and reflect more effectively in group contexts.

The second part of the program is community meals. On a weekly basis, each S.A.L.T. member is asked to show off his or her culinary skills by preparing a meal for the house to share. The main objective of eating once a week as a community is to remember the sacredness of each other and of the day. If students were asked what the best weekly S.A.L.T. House activity was, their response would most likely be community dinners.

The third piece of programming is DocumentarTea. On most Sunday nights, the house is bustling with students eager to watch and discuss whichever documentary is on the agenda. As the living room is filled with enthusiastic minds, hot water is brought out accompanied by an assortment of teas; providing hospitality to all who stop by.

This year, Brandon Hoover was the director of the S.A.L.T. House, an intense and intentional living community.

“Living at the S.A.L.T. House, I am constantly replenished. My personal passions are kindled by the complementary passions of the wonderful people with whom I live. It seems so right to senselessly giggle and gravely discuss with the same people, and there is something immensely comforting about sitting down to dinner with those with whom I have served earlier that day. In other words, I’ve found that the S.A.L.T. community, in which we both live and serve alongside each other, provides me with the support I find so vital to nurturing passion, concern, and hope.”
