From the director

We're proud of all our senior students who are working on senior honors projects. Titus, Eden, and Brittany will be presenting their projects later this week. As you have opportunity, please do come out and support them. For sophomores and juniors thinking about your senior honors project, look for an information session in the spring where senior students will talk about the entire process -- from coming up with an idea to seeing the project through to the end.

Yours,

Jim LaGrand
