COLLEGE GOVERNANCE

3 COLLEGE GOVERNANCE [Approved by the President and endorsed by Messiah College Board of Trustees, May 17-18, 2001]3.1 COMMUNITY OF EDUCATORS

3.1.1 Definition and Classification of Educators. The fundamental educational task of Messiah College is to promote successful and meaningful learning and to help students attain the College-Wide Educational Objectives. Educational means devoted to helping students attain these objectives can be categorized into curricular and cocurricular programming, with curricular programs defined as those that lead to academic credit for the students and cocurricular programs defined as programs that do not lead to academic credit. Recognizing the complementary and mutually enriching nature of these two types of programming, it is nevertheless important, for the purposes of governance, to make a functional distinction between educators primarily involved with curricular programs and educators primarily involved with cocurricular programming.

3.1.1.1 Faculty. The Faculty of Messiah College are those educators whose primary role is to directly help students attain the College-Wide Educational Objectives through curricular programming or who supervise those having this primary role. The Faculty fall within the following categories:

 1. Term-Tenure Track Faculty
 2. Clinical Track Faculty
 3. Lecturers
- b. Librarians

3.1.1.2 Cocurricular Educators. The Cocurricular Educators of Messiah College are those full-time educators whose primary role is to directly help students attain the College-Wide Educational Objectives through cocurricular programming or who supervise those having this primary role. Typically these educators have a master's degree and are usually hired through a national search supervised by the Provost. Cocurricular Educators include the Vice Provost/Dean of Students and College Pastor and professionals in the following areas: Athletics, College Ministries, Counseling, Residence Life, Community Development, Multicultural Programs, and Student Programs.

3.1.1.3 Curricular Administrators. Curricular Administrators are those full-time administrators who have earned at least a master's degree and whose administrative assignments are related to the academic program. Curricular Administrators include the Deans, Director of the Murray Library and other Directors of academic areas, Associate Provost/Chief Information Officer, Registrar, and the Curriculum Administrator.

The full Community of Educators will ordinarily meet at least once or twice a year for organizational and informational purposes. When necessary, the Community of Educators will meet as a whole to review any actions of the Community of Educators Senate which have been officially challenged.

The Community of Educators Senate is a representative body with the authority to act on behalf of the Community of Educators.

3.1.4.5 The Secretary of the Community of Educators is elected by the Senate in the spring of the preceding year from the Senate members who will be continuing in the fall. The Secretary also serves as the recording secretary at all Community of Educators Senate meetings and meetings of the full Community of Educators [Revised 9/23/03, Community of Educators Senate].

3.1.4.6 Meetings of the Senate are open to all members of the Community of Educators. Only Senators have a vote and regularly have voice. Upon request, voice privileges may be granted to Community of Educators members other than Senators prior to a given Senate meeting at the discretion of the Chair.

3.1.7The Nature of Senate “Representation”

- a. The function of the elected Senators is to serve the common good. The primary identity of the Senator is that of “Educator.” As such, any Community of Educators member should expect that any Senator, regardless of the constituency that elects him/her, will listen to concerns, opinions, and positions on matters before the Senate.
- b. The practice of electing representatives from constituent groups to serve in the Senate is intended to guarantee the presence of different and relevant perspectives within the Senate. Senators, chosen from a particular constituency of the full Community of Educators, observe different areas of the campus community, communicate regularly with different sets of educators, are aware of different concerns and approaches based on disciplinary needs and practices, and sometimes embrace different philosophical approaches.

- c. In meetings of the Community of Educators Senate, a quorum must be present to take official action. Such a quorum shall consist of two-thirds of the total voting membership of the Senate. The Chair of the Community of Educators keeps track of the official quorum number throughout the semester. The actual quorum number may be less than this number, but only for one of the following three reasons:
 1. There are unfilled Senator slots that opened due to resignations during the prior semester. Once these are filled, the official quorum number will be adjusted upward accordingly.

2. There are unfilled Senator slots that opened due to unavoidable conflicts for Senators for the semester. Once these are filled, the official quorum number will be adjusted accordingly.
3. A Senator slot opens during the semester due to a resignation or extended illness. These slots will not be filled; therefore, the quorum number will be reduced accordingly for the remainder of the semester.
- d. If any Senator, in any given semester, has an unavoidable conflict and thereby is unable to attend any Senate meetings, the Senator will be replaced for the semester.

- f. Robert's Rules of Order shall be the guiding framework for sessions of the Community of Educators Senate meeting.
- g. The Chair will bring the discussion to a close. Those who are members of the Community of Educators may remain as observers. Upon request, Community of Educators members who are not Senators may be granted voice privileges.

3.1.11 Implementation of Community of Educators Governance Decisions

3.1.11.1 Legislative Responsibilities. The legislative actions of the Community of Educators (meeting as a whole or as a Senate) are executed by the Provost and President. The Provost may veto legislative decisions of the Community of Educators. If this should occur, the Community of Educators' recommendation along with the Provost's recommendation will go to the President. If the President supports the Community of Educators' recommendation, the decision will be implemented. If the President supports the Provost's veto, the following procedure will be followed:

- a. The President explains to a subsequent meeting of the Community of Educators Senate his/her objections to the given decision.
- b. After hearing these objections and requesting further clarification as desired, the Community of Educators Senate votes again on the issue in question. A quorum being present, a two-thirds vote is necessary to reconfirm the previous decision. That decision stands unless the President refers it to the Board of Trustees as the ultimate authority of the College.
- c. In the event of such a referral, the Chair of the Community of Educators along with two members chosen by the Community of Educators Senate will present the viewpoint of the Community of Educators to the Board at the meeting in which the Board will vote to sustain or reject the decision in question.

3.1.11.2 Recommending Responsibilities

- a. The recommendations of the Community of Educators (meeting as a whole or as a Senate) go to the Provost, the President, and/or the College Council for further action.
- b. In some instances, the Provost's recommendation to the President might differ from the recommendation the Provost received from the Community of Educators. If this should occur, then the Community of Educators will have the option of sending its recommendation to the President.
- c. In some instances, the President's recommendation to the Board might differ from the recommendation received from the Community of Educators. If this should occur, then the Community of Educators will have the option of sending its recommendation to the Board.
