Why take a First Year Seminar?

To think about the relationship between faith and academic work.
To learn the expectations of college level reading, analysis, and writing.
To think beyond a single point of view.
To nurture one’s desire for learning.
To access, evaluate and use sources effectively.
To participate in meaningful discussion within a community of peers.

Resources

What Is a 21st Century Liberal Education?
The Civic Case for Liberal Education
The Economic Case for Liberal Education
Messiah College Writing Program